WHEN FORGS GROW HAIR

Author: Pato Mena

Hardcover / 20 x 20 cm / 48 pages

ISBN: 978-84-16427-47-5

When frogs grow hair, when pigs fly, when chickens have teeth... Languages are funny and playful. Proof of this is the variety of phrases that each country or culture has invented to say that something will never happen. Children of the world listen to them a lot through the mouths of their parents. This book is a journey through some of these expressions, the most curious, seasoned with a little touch of humor.

A crazy picture book created by Pato Mena, Chilean author and illustrator whose children's books have been translated into many languages and who in 2020 won the Marta Brunet National Prize for Children's Literature in Chile. An author who always surprises us with his wit and humor.

ÁFRICA: The mystery of the bottle

Text: Ted Borg

Illustrations: Edurne Lacunza

Hardcover / 21 x 31 cm / 48 pages

ISBN: 978-84-16427-46-8

The Inuit woke up from her nap. Something strange was floating next to her kayak. It was a bottle with a carved name: Africa. As soon as she opened it, mysterious sounds came out from his interior like spirits fleeing to heaven. What mystery will this magic hide?

To find it out, the Inuit will undertake a long journey through Mother Earth. Join her on this adventure and you will discover the funniest sayings and proverbs of African tribes. Real ones!

El Kayak bajaba embaleado y, como era de esperar, los frenos no aparecieron espontáneamente... Aunque, finalmente, no hicieron falta, un árbol los frenó en seco. La inuita prefirió la experiencia de los tréncos en la nieve.

Estaban tan doloridos tras el golpe que no podían ni quejarse. Cuando la jirafa se fijó en la cara del león, empezó a doblarse de la risa cuan larga era.

UN CAMELLO NO SE BURLA DE LAS JOROBAS DE OTRO CAMELLO.

La jirafa estaba tremendamente avergonzada. La truita deslizo el ruido y después abrió la botella; esta vez la magia parecía quejarse.

KLICK
PLOCK

Sacudiendo sus gíbas, el camello negó saber nada de esas artes mágicas, pero les aconsejó visitar una aldea cercana en la que vivían hechiceros expertos en ruidos de toda índole.

Tears

Text: Eva Manzano Plaza

Illustrations: Mo Gutiérrez Serna

Hardcover/ 20 x 30 cm / 68 pp.

ISBN: 978-84-16427-27-7

The fascinating story of those drops that live in our eyes. Do you know that without tears we would see worse? That we would surely live part of the day with our eyes closed? Crying has turned us into the human beings that we are today, because tears have helped us to keep our eyes open to look at the world. With them, we communicate at birth, and also with them, we say goodbye to our beloved ones.

Tears have taught us to read the faces of the others and also to feel our own, because it remains hidden to us like the hidden face of the moon.

habitantes de tristemundo

EL HADA DE TRISTEMUNDO

Dicen que hay un hada que se llama Tristequemasdá, que de lo pequeña que es, a veces, se la confunde con una pelusa. Su cuerpo diminuto, al que le falta una pierna, va vestido con lágrimas que se hacen y se deshacen.

¿Dónde las consigue? Cuando una niña o un niño no pueden parar de llorar, enseguida aparece Tristequemasdá, que se posa sobre su nariz haciéndola estornudar. Después el hada trepa hasta los ojos –es una gran escaladora, a pesar de que solo tiene una pierna– y desenreda el llanto hasta que solo queda una última lágrima, la cual añade a su vestido. Si alguna vez no puedes parar de llorar, busca a Tristequemasdá.

Entre los que se acercaron al santuario estaba también el anciano que me había ayudado con el asunto de la niña enferma. Me alegré mucho, ya que por fin podría agradecerle su consejo y directriz.

Cuando subí a su hombro, caía una de las flores del cerezo. La cogí entre mis patas y quise colocarla entre mi pelaje, así que me di la vuelta. Con mucha sorpresa y emoción comprobé que mis colas eran ahora cinco, como cinco son los pétalos de las flores del cerezo.

Intrepids. The incredible travels of 25 dauntless women

Text: Cristina Pujol

Illustrations: Rena Ortega

Format: Hardcover / 21 x 30 cm / 60 pp.

Publishing date: 04/04/2018

When someone met Junko Tabei, always looked at her with perplexity. Her size was really small. How could she be the first woman to reach the summit of Mount Everest? She laughed about that confusion. Junko explained that her size or her climbing technique were not the things that took her to the summit, but her determination, and that rises from the heart.

Intrepids rediscovers the incredible travels of 25 female explorers, some of them forgotten. Following her steps, we can learn how they overcame their fears to climb the highest mountains, to swing the world by feet or by bike, to travel through space, to fly between continents, to cross deserts, or to dive into the greater depths of the sea... All of them discovered an important lesson: that the journey is the destination.

"Women, like men, should try to do the impossible. And when they fail, their failure should be a challenge to others"

Caso #75 - Extraño telar 20 lunas llenas d.u.m.

Un juvenil de araña ha aparecido esta mañana en la consulta porque es incapaz de tejer correctamente. El dibujo de su telar es irregular: el arácnido no logra descansar de forma adecuada ni atrapar alimento suficiente, apenas una mosca de vez en cuando. Deconoce el motivo. Está muy delgada, parece tener el abdomen de una avispa. Lo pido que teja un telar para contrastarlo con mi guía de patrones anómalos.

El diagnóstico es claro: padece miofía, aunque no tiene muchas dioptrías. Fabrico unas gafas a medida. Podrá tejer sin problemas un correcto telar. Lo siento por las moscas, pero los defraudadores son muy importantes en nuestra comunidad.
